

The Snow Goose Festival of the Pacific Flyway is now in its 10th year. The festival will be held on January 22-25, 2009. In the past few years the festival has seen tremendous growth and we contribute that to our dedicated volunteers as well as our sponsors for making this event possible. We look forward to continuing this event for years into the future and truly need local support so that we can remain the premier Northern Sacramento Valley birding and nature festival.

We are particularly excited this year since we will have a well-known birder, world traveler and photographer, Ed Harper, as our banquet keynote speaker.

Highlights of the festival include:

- A two weeklong art exhibit hosted by Avenue 9 Gallery and All Fired Up! Ceramic and Art Center
- Friday night welcome reception and art exhibit with trolley service
- Tours of birding and nature areas
- Educational workshops
- Guided Sutter Butte hikes
- Guided kayak birding tours
- Naturalist presentations and free activities for the entire family
- Junior Naturalist Activity center
- Local wildlife-friendly farm tours
- Saturday Night Banquet with silent auction and a special raffle

We invite you to be a part of the Snow Goose Festival by becoming a sponsor.

Thank you,

Jennifer Patten
Snow Goose Festival Coordinator
(530) 345-9356
jpchico@sbcglobal.net